PRICE TWO CENTS

CHICAGO CONCERN FILES LOWEST BID

Callahan-Mandl Company Proposes to Erect New Postoffice Building for $47,700.

FIFTEEN FIRMS SUBMIT BIDS

Washington Dispatch Says Proposals will be Taken Under Advisement by Treasury Department.

Fifteen bids were received Saturday afternoon by the treasury department in Washington from contractors who figured on the construction of the proposed new postoffice building in this city. The contractors were given a month in which to file their bids. Bids for both sandstone and limestone were filed by the contractors.

The lowest bid was filed by the Callahan-Mandl Construction Company of Chicago, and was for $47,700 for limestone and $50,000 for sandstone.
Bids were filed by contracting firms in several states.

The bids were as follows:

Bedford Stone and Construction Company, Indianapolis, $54,700 for
limestone and $54,000 for sandstone;
Northern Construction Company, Milwaukee, $58,766 for limestone and $61,566 for sandstone; William Ever-ly, Indianapolis, $55,876 for limestone and $56,900 for sandstone; R. P.
Farnsworth & Co., Owensboro, Ky.,
$54,100 for limestone; R. S. Moore, Lafayette, Ind., $54,980 for limestone; W. H. Fishell & Co., New York city, $54,500 for limestone and $59,- 500 for sandstone; Christ Kauzler & Sons Evansville, Ind., $54,329 for
limestone and $56,445 for sandstone;
W. G. Carter & Co., Chicago, $53,- 528 for limestone; Dunlap & Co., Columbus, Ind., $51,497 for sandstone;
Charles W. Gindele Company, Chicago, $50,500 for limestone; James Devault, Canton, O., $55,500 for limestone and $57,600 for sandstone; H.
G. Mitchell, Scottsburg, Ind., $57,425
for limestone; George W. Stiles Construction Company, Chicago $49,600
for limestone; J. Fred Beggs, Scotts-burg, Ind., $49,500 for limestone;
Callahan-Mandl Company Chicago,
$47,700 for limestone and $50,000
for sandstone.

It is announced that the proposals were taken under advisement and it is thought the contract will be awarded by the treasury department in the near future. It is thought probable that some of the work may begin late this fall and that the building will be completed in 1916.

The plans and specifications call for one of the handsomest postoffice buildings in southern Indiana. The building itself will cost approximately $50,000 and an additional expenditure will be made for fixtures. The two appropriations already made will likely be sufficient to fully equip the new postoffice home.

Postmaster Swope has had no word today from the postoffice department relative to the bids or to when the contract will likely be awarded. This matter rests with the department at Washington.

LOSS OF $1,550 RESULTS FROM FIRE ON BUSH FARM

Barn, Quantity of Feed and Farming
Implements Consumed in Flames
Sunday Night.

Fire of unknown origin caused a loss of approximately 1,550 at the farm of Frank Bush, two and one-half miles southwest of the city, Sunday night about 8 o'clock. The barn, valued at $400, the silo, filled with feed, more than fifty chickens, some implements and a large straw stack were burned.

The flames originated in the hay loft and spread rapidly soon reaching the straw stack. The reflection of the fire could be seen here. Cleveland Goens, the tenant, says that no one had been around the buildings after dark as the horses were fed about 5 o'clock. Six horses were stabled when the fire was discovered and little trouble was experienced in getting them out of the building. The silo has been recently filled and all the silage was lost.

F. C. Foster, manager of the Jackson County Farmers' Insurance Company, was at the farm today to get a list of the property destroyed. He will make the adjustment for the company he represents. Mr. Bush carried $550 insurance on the building,
contents and feed.

LOCAL SALOONIST GETS FINE OF $20 AND COSTS

George Baxter Pleads Guilty in Circuit Court to Violation of Liquor Law.

George Baxter, charged with a violation of the liquor law, pleaded guilty in circuit court today, and was fined $20 and costs by Judge Swails.
Baxter permitted a finding of guilty to be recorded against him in the local court in order to complete the record so an appeal could be taken to the circuit court. He was charged with the sale of liquor to a minor.
The case has been pending for months.

The case of the state of Indiana against Thomas Barrett, formerly a druggist at Brownstown, was also set for trial today, but had not been called at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.
Barrett is a defendant in several cases and it is understood that he will plead guilty in several and the others will be dismissed. All of them grow out of alleged illegal liquor sales. His license as recently revoked by the state board.

A peanut vending machine was taken down from the front of the Bee Hive, on West Second street,
Saturday night and was later found machine contained a quantity of peanuts and a number of pennies. The policeman took the machine to the police station. The machine is usually taken inside the store at the closing hour.

OFFICER USES CLUB TO ENFORCE ORDER

Excitement Furnished Celebrants
When Arrest is Made by Policeman Stewart.

SAMUEL GREEN IS ARRAIGNED

Defendant Pleads Not Guilty in City Court to Intoxication and Takes Change of Venue.

Samuel Green, aged twenty-one,
who was hit over the head with a policeman's club by Officer Bruce Stewart, Saturday night, when he is alleged to have resisted arrest, was arraigned before Mayor Ross this morning and entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of public intoxication.
Green was represented in court by Judge John M. Lewis, who asked for a change of venue. The motion was granted and the attorneys agreed upon E. P. Elsner to try the case. The date of the trial has not yet been fixed.

The trouble between the policeman
and Green attracted a large crowd at the corner of Second and Chestnut streets. According to the police Green and a number of friends started to cross the intersection diagonally. Stewart, who was acting as traffic officer, told them to keep inside the lines, but it is stated, despite his instructions they made their way towards the First National Bank corner. There the crowd is alleged to have stopped and to have replied to Stewart.

It is stated that Stewart approached them and told them not to stand in the street and interfere with traffic,
to which they continued to reply, Witnesses say that Stewart told the crowd three or four times to move on and to quit the "back talk." Finally he got behind them and pushed them all south on Second street. At this point Green insisted that he did not want to go in that direction and is said to have told Stewart that he had done nothing wrong and that if Stewart wanted to "pick trouble with anyone to get the right man." Green is said to have stopped after the orders were given to retie his necktie and is said to have remarked that he was not interfering with traffic and would stay there as long as he wanted to.

According to the police Stewart started to push Green away and the latter resisted. It was then that Stewart rapped him with the club. The scalp was cut by the blow and blood flowed freely. Green was knocked down, it is stated, but arose to his feet and was taken to the police station.

Officers Wallace and Ruddick at the police station were informed of the trouble and met Stewart and Green north of the B. & O. Southwestern tracks. Quite a crowd followed the police to the jail where Green's scalp wound was washed. He was placed under bond after a charge of intoxication was preferred against him.

It was reported Sunday that friends of Green were circulating a petition asking the board of safety to remove Stewart from the police force. It is known that the petition was presented to several business men who refused to sign it on the ground that

HUNDREDS SEE THE QUAINT COSTUMES

Scores of Young People Parade
Streets Saturday Night in Hallowe'en Garb.

CELEBRATION WAS ORDERLY

Police Ready to Cope With Any Situation but There Was no Destruction of Property.

The 1915 Hallowe'en celebration is history. Although hundreds of people, scores of them masked, paraded the streets Saturday night, the police say the festivities were unusually free from disturbances and very few reports of willful destruction of property have been filed.
The entire police force was on duty until early Sunday morning and preparations had been made to cope with any situation that may have arisen. The police visited all parts of the city regularly but reported that the crowd of masqueraders conducted themselves admirably and only in a few instances were the officers required to make their presence known.

The orderly conduct of the crowd was doubtless due in a large measure to the announcement made by Chief of Police McCord on Friday, that destruction of property would not be permitted under any circumstances and that offenders would face prosecution. The word had reached the boys and they decided to take no chances.

The celebrants began to appear on the streets about 6:30 o'clock and by 8 o'clock the annual celebration was in full swing. While the number of masqueraders was not as large as last year the costumes were unique and many attracted attention of the hundreds of spectators who lined the streets. During the evening the police were asked if girls dressed as boys could promenade
the streets and the officers replied that such costumes might result in trouble. Consequently few girls were masked as boys, although a number appeared on the streets.

Many amusing incidents occurred during the festivities. One young man was dressed as a young lady and took occasion to walk down the street with a young couple, holding to the husband's arm. The wife told her husband to "shake the girl" and when her husband refused the wife administered punishment to the "girl" with a hard slap on the face.
Later the wife discovered that the "girl" was a man and took her husband to task for not telling her.

During the evening bushels of corn were thrown in this city. Many children carried sacks of grain with them which they showered upon the unsuspecting pedestrian. A number of Hallowe'en parties were held in various sections of the city.

The Hallowe'en festivities this year were continued longer than usual which probably accounted for the smaller crowd on the streets
Saturday night. "Cabbage night"
and "corn night" were observed during the week. Scores of parties have been held during the week.

Reports of several minor property
destructions have been received.
Boys with a distorted idea of fun

sent a large rock through a window
at the home of William Willman, South Chestnut street. The stone smashed through the shutter, the pane of glass and the curtain and fell inside the room. No one was hurt. Another crowd of boys overturned a large iron flower vase in the lawn of Mrs. J. H. Matlock, North Walnut street. No damage resulted. Only a few display windows in the downtown district were soaped.

As a whole, the celebration is reported to be one of the quietest ever held in this city. The police department has received many compliments upon the manner in which the crowd of celebrants was handled and for the little destruction of property.

CHANCES ARE GREECE WILL REMAIN NEUTRAL

Public Sentiment There About Participation in War is the Same as in America.

Correspondent. Copyright by United

Athens, November 1.—Chances that Greece will enter the war are the remotest at present. Greek public opinion regarding participation in the struggle is exactly what public opinion is in the United States. Everybody wants to keep out of it. If the Bulgarians should spill over the Greek frontier, small Greco-Bulgarian conflicts would be possible. Germany, however, promises that the Bulgarians will not do this. Ex-premier Venizelos remains in Athens.

BRITISH DEFENSE IS NOT ACCEPTED

General Skinner, Consul to England, Says Increase of American Exports to Netherlands is Justified.

OTHER PORTS ARE NOW CLOSED

Answers England's Contention That American Shippers Are Not Acting in Good Faith.

By United Press

Washington, November 1.—Great Britain's defense of its stoppage of its trade between American shippers and traders in the neutral Netherlands and Scandinavian countries on the ground that goods sent there are really destined for the central powers, will not be accepted as satisfactory by the United States. This much was made certain today when the United States Consul General Skinner, stationed at London, arrived in Washington for a conference with Secretary of State Lansing.

"It is true," said Skinner, "that the American exports to the Netherlands have increased to a capricious degree, but this does not mean that England's contention is correct. It means simply that goods to these countries formerly distributed out of Hamburg and Antwerp, are now all sent to Holland ports.

"England's defense of its holding up of American goods, therefore,
cannot be justified by any general
argument that the American traders
are not acting in good faith."

Because of Skinner's activity in presenting the American stand on the blockade there was a rumor today that he would no longer be satisfactory to the English government. Secretary Lansing, however, denied this and said so far as he knew Skinner
would be returned to London.

BRITISH PRIZE CREWS SEIZE AMERICAN SHIPS

Steamer Llama Captured off Scotland Coast and Hocking Held at Halifax.

By United Press.

Washington, November 1.—The American steamer Llama was seized by a British prize crew and afterwards run around off the coast of Scotland, according to a report to the state department from the American consul at Dundee. No reasons for the seizure of the vessel were given.

The seizure of another American vessel, the Hocking, by a British warship was also reported today by the state department. American Consul Young, of Halifax, wired that the Hocking was brought into Halifax yesterday in command of a British prize crew after being halted by British warships patrolling the American coast off New York.

etable Compound.

Kasota, Minn. — "I am glad to say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than anything else, and I had the best physician here. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I feel like a different person. I believe there is nothing like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weak women and young girls, and I would be glad if I could influence anyone to try the medicine, for I know it will do all and much more than it is claimed to do." — Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D. No. 1, Maplecrest Farm, Kasota, Minn.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

They Cost Little, They Do Much—OUR WANT ADS.

DO HUSBANDS SPEND MONEY FOOLISHLY.

Wives like to think so and say so. They are fond of twitting "lesser halves" about the male practice of rushing into a store and buying the first thing in sight.

Wives unanimously consider themselves superior shoppers.

But perhaps husbands with native masculine shrewdness know in advance from reading the newspaper advertising just what they want and what is a fair price.

Men are natural exponents of business efficiency, you know.

Doubtless the average wife will pool pool this notion and maintain that she is the newspaper advertising reader of the family.

One thing both are agreed on — it pays to read newspaper advertising.

Today.

Sure, this world is full of trouble — I ain't said it ain't.
Lord! I've had enough an' double.
Reason for complaint.

Rain and storm have come to fret me,
Skies were often gray;

Thorns an' brambles have beset me
On the road—but, say,

Ain't it fine today!

What's the use of always weepin',
Making trouble last?

What's the use of always keepin'
Thinkin' of the past?

Each must have his tribulation,
Water with his wine.

Life it ain't no celebration.
Trouble? I've had mine—

But today is fine.

It's today that I am livin',
Not a month ago.

Havin', losin', takin', givin',
As time wills it so.

Yesterday a cloud of sorrow
Fell across the way;

It may rain again tomorrow,
It may rain—but, say,

Ain't it fine today!

The proof of the pudding is in the eating,
but it's too late then to make corrections.

Did it ever occur to you that the reason so many fail to reach the top of the ladder is because they try to take too many steps at a time?

The trouble with many young cut-ups who are continually being warned that wine, women and song are the ruin of many young men is that they always want to quit the singing and go ahead with the rest of the triumvirate.

The man who can worry through a three months' siege with contractors, carpenters, painters, plasterers, plumbers and decorators while going through the ordeal of having a house built, and come out with a calm and unruffled disposition is a fit candidate for a Carnegie medal.

If the inspired genius who wrote the song about California in September could only have seen Indiana in October, he should have been able to write a masterpiece.

But November is here, with its taxpaying, coal buying and winter winds. And yet, there is also Thanksgiving, quail shooting and long evenings when the crackle of a grate fire is music to the ear. So take off your hat, Miss November, and stay awhile.

If we could make the big Yale bowl rhyme with the big Yale howl that is going up all over the country, and could muster up strong enough words to portray the desperation at New Haven, we might write a few lines on the success of this year's Yale football team.

Before the King of England orates any more about "my armies" we should think he would learn how to ride a horse.

Protection pays. If we didn't know it so well ourselves we would only have to look at Germany.

A Kansas man won't endure anyone blowing louder about his state than a Kansan does about Kansas; so a resident of Salina, to express his defiance of the boasting one hears in California, wrote after his name on the hotel register at San Francisco, "Salina, Kan., T. G."—That is to say, "Kansas, Thank God."

"53 inning game" says a headline. But it was only a three cushion billiard game, and not base ball.

Bryan is to speak in Norway this month. Now what has Norway done to deserve this?

Villa must be Mex for modesty. The bandit leader calmly asserts that if he has to lick the whole American army he guesses he can do it.

Reserved seats on the barbed wire fence at Douglass for the first game of the Villa Carranza series for the championship of Mexico were at a premium yesterday. The opening game was delayed on account of differences between the two teams as to which should take the first bat at the other.

EVERY DAY

The Seymour Republican tells the people of Seymour and vicinity the news of the world,—the news of the big round world with its story of struggle and victory both in war and in peace,—and the news of our more intimate, city and community world with its varied happenings that are of personal interest to everyone of us,—and then the news of the merchandising world in which the merchants tell their store news and how to meet all the varied needs of the big circle of newspaper readers.

The Seymour Republican is the friend of the people and the friend of the merchant,—the friend of the people because it tells them all three classes of news including how they may secure the best returns in their shopping,—the friend of the merchant because it offers the medium through which the advertiser may talk to the largest possible number of people every day,—and this number is steadily growing.

The following figures for the past six months give the average number of copies of the Daily and Weekly Republican delivered, exclusive of unsold copies remaining in the office:

| | DAILY | WEEKLY |
|--------------|-------|--------|
| May - - - - | 1404 | 1997 |
| June - - - - | 1412 | 1966 |
| July - - - - | 1405 | 1983 |
| August - - - | 1385 | 2005 |
| September - | 1430 | 2039 |
| October - - | 1485 | 2088 |

Out of the October average of 1485, the twelve carrier boys delivered in the city of Seymour an average of 1192 per day. This is an average gain IN THE CITY of 39 copies per day over September and September showed a similar gain over August.

CITY AND COUNTY SCHOOLS OPEN AFTER BRIEF VACATION

Local Teachers Declare Convention of State Association is Valuable to Them.

The city and county schools convened this morning after a vacation since Wednesday afternoon which was given that the teachers might attend the annual convention of the Indiana State Teachers' Association, at Indianapolis. Practically all the teachers in the county were present at the sessions.

Local teachers declare that the institute is valuable to them and many subjects with which they deal daily are discussed by the best educators in the country. The sectional meetings are especially valuable as the attendance is smaller and a better opportunity is offered for informal discussion. The teachers in Seymour and Jackson county were opposed to the suggestion that the next meeting be held in Cincinnati. Because of the railroad facilities to Indianapolis, that city was favored.

EVENTS IN THE WAR ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

By United Press.

Turkey's apology without reparation for her bombardment of Russian ports was scorned by the Allies and war declarations threatened. Ypres and Argonne advances, bombardment of Czernowitz and repulse of Russian attacks in Russian Poland, were claimed by Germany.

The North Sea was mined and closed to commerce by the Allies. Progress near Dixmude and a lessening of German attacks generally was France's report. Repulse of Germans in East-Prussia, a strong offensive beyond the Vistula with no German opposition and fierce fighting with Austrians on the San in Galicia were reported by Russia.

ORGANIZED FRIENDLINESS IS NEED IN CHARITY WORK

J. F. Jackson, of Cleveland, Speaks to Indiana State Conference of Charities and Corrections.

By United Press.
Richmond, Ind., Nov. 1.—A message of friendliness was brought to the Indiana State Conference of Charities and Corrections today by J. F. Jackson, of Cleveland. Organized friendliness, he said, is needed in charity work. He spoke for "sense and sentiment."

"Every form of human activity is coming to be organized, from running railroads to selling newspapers on the street," he said. "Friendliness needs to be organized also in our modern cities in order to be effective. If we wish our giving to benefit the recipient and not merely to warm the cockles of our own hearts, our giving must be co-ordinated with other people's giving. It must be organized as part of the community movement towards better conditions. Sense and sentiment are both essential to effective social service. Organization without friendliness is as futile as friendliness without organization."

Jackson spoke against the handout. "If charity were mere almsgiving and almsgiving were charity, very little organization would be necessary. The handout is not charity."

RAILROAD POSTPONE GENERAL FIVE PER CENT. INCREASE

Since October 1, 1914 the Various Companies Have Delayed Adopting New Schedules.

By United Press.
Indianapolis, November 1.—The railroads have again postponed the effective date of the general five per cent. increase in tariffs, this time to January 1, 1916.

The postponement according to a representative of one of the roads is the fifteenth or sixteenth. The first effective date named was October 1, 1914. Continuations at first were for a month, but more recently that have been for two months.

For the first time representatives of the tariff department of the Lake Erie and Western did not care today to talk for publication or to give a reason why the date was postponed. Previous explanations were that the weather was hot and that the commission would not want to hear the case in hot weather, or that the railroads were awaiting until conditions in adjoining states could be so adjusted that a uniform tariff could be fixed.

MORTON AS A LAWYER

Morton was especially strong as a pleader. He had no taste for routine office work, which he turned over to his partner who drew up the briefs. But once in a case, he worked like a Trojan. He had a wonderful faculty of going right to the heart of an argument. Disdaining the arts of the rhetorician, he bore down on his opponents with the sheer force of intellect and reason. "Before a jury he was irresistible," it was said of him. "He literally annihilated everybody connected with the bar of Wayne county, and walked rough shod all over the other lawyers of his circuit." There was great rivalry between litigants to secure Morton's services.

DRASTIC MEAT INSPECTION RULES GO IN FORCE TODAY

Destruction of Diseased Animals Before
They Enter Slaughter
Houses Required.

By United Press.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—New and drastic meat inspection rules, for protection of the American stomach, are in effect to-day. Their operation began officially, yesterday, but packing houses and abattoirs were not affected until today.

Destruction of diseased animals by U. S. meat inspectors before they enter the slaughter house is one of the new rules. Heretofore infected animals were slaughtered on the same killing floor with healthy animals and were not condemned until later.

Violation of the meat inspection law is made punishable by a new penalty of withdrawal of government inspection, putting the offending concern out of interstate commerce.

A new rule in favor of the packers is that permitting them to sell "second class" cooked meat, providing it is so labeled after sterilization. Sale of raw pork in summer, sausage and other forms for eating without cooking is prohibited.

Drastic new sanitary regulations for slaughter houses is another feature of the new regulations in effect today.

HEED THE ADVICE OF THE WORLD'S RICHEST WOMAN, AND

"Buy When People Want To Sell"

There is but one cause—but one reason for this slaughtering of values, namely, the necessity of greatly reducing our enormous stock of men's clothing, furnishings and shoes. We want to sell—we must sell—this large stock must be turned into cash. Now is the time to act on the proverb, "Buy when People want To Sell". We must close out this entire stock and furnishings now.

All prices have been torn to pieces; its a tremendous sacrifice—the public gets the benefit. Hurry up and get your share, you can't afford to miss this opportunity. Buy everything you will need for some time ahead, you will make big interest on your investment.

Men's and boy's suits, overcoats, shoes, underwear, shirts, neckwear, etc., are marked down until profits are entirely sacrificed. Come in today and get some of these bargain values for yourself. Reduced prices on everything in our stock.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Miss Hazel Johnson was hostess to a delightful Halloween party Saturday evening at her home on Lynn street. The house was lighted with candles that gave a weird appearance to the Halloween decorations of witches, black cats, jack o'lanterns and the dull color scheme of yellow and black. The guests were masked and the hostess had difficulty in guessing who her guests were. After the unmasking the lights were turned on and a number of games and contests were enjoyed. A Halloween luncheon was served in the beautifully decorated dining room, where the color scheme was carried out. The favors were miniature witch heads on pins. For the luncheon covers were laid for Misses Emma Simmons, Florence White, Jennie Bridges, Edna Banta, Edna Dixon, Margaret Sears, Verna Ahlrich, Loretta Dehler and Albert Williams, Claude Robbins, Emery Ollinger, Honan Willman, Gleason Ewing, Edward Lewis, Harry McBride and William Spray.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Just as Walter Bidwell, musician at the Majestic Theater, completed his work Saturday night a company of friends met him at the theater in a touring car and motored him over the city. Then to his surprise he was ushered into the apartments of C. D. Hardin where an oyster supper was given. The members of the party were: W. W. Eagleston, Booth Bales, Thomas Thornton, Kingsley Brinklow, Robert R. Clark, Russell Phillips, Frank Wieneke and C. D. Hardin. Mr. Eagleston acted as toastmaster. The party then accompanied him to the train and he left for Chicago where he will meet his cousin and they will go to Dubuque, Ia., to join the musical comedy company, "Safety First" as director of the orchestra and treasurer. He leaves this city with the best wishes of his many friends.

The house was prettily decorated with wreaths of green leaves, jack o'lanterns and zenias. A flash-light picture was made of the masked company, after which the hostess, their mother, Mrs. Claud Cunningham, served pumpkin pie, apples, coffee and shrub, which every one enjoyed. The party was then escorted to Majestic theater by the photographer, E. C. Pinchon, and Charles Manuel.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown, Jr., delightfully entertained a company of friends Saturday evening at their home on Jeffersonville avenue, with a Halloween party. The house was beautifully decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. The evening was spent with games, contests and music. In the dining room where a luncheon was served, the decorations were beautiful, the jack o'lanterns and color scheme of black and gold being carried out. There were twenty-four guests. Those from out of the city were Lawrence and Carl Staudt and Miss Maude Davis, of Indianapolis, and Miss Lucy Callahan, of Brownstown.

SCOTT COUNTY MAN IS ARRESTED FOR INTOXICATION

Luman Peeler, Comes Here and Imbibes Too Freely—Draws Fine of $1 and Costs.

Luman Peeler, who said his home is at Scottsburg, was arrested here Sunday night for intoxication. He was arraigned this morning before Mayor Ross and given $1 and costs. The police department here had learned that Peeler had been sentenced to the Indiana Reformatory at Jeffersonville for larceny some time ago and was out on parole. The fact that he was found in an intoxicated condition here would be sufficient to return him to the reformatory and Sheriff Walker, of Scott county was asked if he wanted Peeler returned. The Scott county sheriff told the local police that the authorities there did not want him. Peeler admitted intoxication.

Preached at Bedford.

The Rev. W. Paul Marsh preached Saturday night at the Christian Church at Plainville and Sunday morning at the First Christian church at Bedford. The subject of his sermon Sunday morning was "The Price of a Crown." The audience was large. The Rev. G. M. Shotts, of this city, occupied the pulpit at the Christian church Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor. He was greeted by a large audience. The pastor preached at night.

MEXICAN FORCES IN GREAT CLASH

Probably Last Battle of Republic's Civil War Being Waged Near Agua Prieta.

REFUGEES CROSS U. S. BORDER

Conflict Begins with Clash of Outposts About a Mile from the City—Both Sides Advance.

By United Press.

Douglas, Ariz., November 1.—The battle of Agua Prieta, believed to be the last great battle of the Mexican civil war, begun shortly after noon today.

The Villa army, 10,000 to 15,000 strong, advanced to the attack within two hours after the artillery had been brought up behind a screen of cavalry. There were fifty large guns and sixty machine guns in the first line of ranks that hurled themselves against the entrenched Carranza army at Agua Prieta.

Mexican refugees from Agua Prieta began streaming across the boundary from Sonland with the opening of the battle. They were then taken in charge by the United States troops and escorted to an internment camp.

The battle began with a clash of outposts about a mile from Agua Prieta. Shortly afterwards the soldiers in advanced trenches from both sides advanced in skirmish formation and the fighting became general over a large territory to the south and east of the city.

NO CLEW IS UNEARTHED TO ROBBERIES THURSDAY

Police Ask That News be Withheld Until Clews at Hand be Fully Investigated.

No clews have been unearthed by the police to the robbery at the offices of Henry Hodapp and the American Mutual Life Insurance Company, in the Pfaffenberger building, and the armory used by the National Guards. The places were entered Thursday night, but at the request of the police department no publicity was given of the robberies as the officers thought it might interfere with some plans they were working on. Nothing was obtained from the insurance office. The office was entered about 6:15 o'clock. A ransom between Mr. Hodapp's office and the office of the insurance company was broken.

At the armory the thief secured an automatic revolver. The robber left some finger prints on a sabre which was used to pry open a locker where the revolver was kept and also on the glass on the transom at the Hodapp office. Photographs of the prints were taken by Frank Platter, and will be used in an effort to apprehend the guilty party.

Jack Williams, known as the "human fly," announces that tonight at 6:45 o'clock he will climb a three story building on West Second street without the aid of mechanical devices. He says he will climb the building by clinging to the bricks. He has many newspaper clippings from all parts of the country showing him performing the feat with writeups of his thrilling act.

CENTENNIAL PLANS ARE NOW UNDER WAY

Tentative Program Calls For Two Pageants.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—Two separate programs are called for in tentative plans for the state centennial celebration in this city next year. One will be held in September in conjunction with the Indiana state fair, and the other to be held early in October.

The tentative program was adopted at a recent meeting of the Indiana Historical commission.

The tentative program as outlined by the Indianapolis committee from the commission, made up of W. O. Woodward, Dr. Frank B. Wynn and Harlow Lindley, calls for the commission's entering into an agreement with the state board of agriculture for the holding of an industrial exposition in conjunction with the state fair. Such an exposition would show the evolution of agriculture, manufacturing, etc., the entire exposition to be of an education nature.

The second program to be held in October would be dramatic and spectacular and would cover a period of fourteen or fifteen days, with a varied program each day and evening, the details to be worked out by the pageant director.

The commission is now in communication with W. C. Langdon of New York, director of a large number of important eastern pageants, with a view to obtaining his services for Indiana as director of the October celebration.

FIFTH FIRE FOR MILLERS

Mill Destroyed Is Estimated at $30,000 Partially Covered by Insurance.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 1.—E. C. Eberts, general manager of the firm of Eberts & Pro., estimated the loss from the destruction by fire of the firm's mill at Charlestown at $30,000, with $19,000 insurance. The origin is unknown, but possibly was due to spontaneous combustion. There were 6,000 bushels of new wheat in the elevator.

The firm was burned out in Jeffersonville in April, 1913, with a gross loss of $100,000, and established its principal place of business afterward in Louisville. Twice the firm was burned out at Henryville, in 1884 and 1886, before coming here, and the firm also, a few years ago, suffered a considerable fire loss at its North Vernon plant. Jacob and Conrad Eberts, brothers, are the members of the firm.

BULGARS LAY TRAP FOR ALLIES

Situation Near Strumitza Threatening.

MAY ISOLATE SERBIAN FORCE

Plan to Cut Off Northern Serbia Would Cause Anglo-French Forces to Be Driven Back Into Greek Territory.

London, Nov. 1.—The campaign of the allies in southern Serbia and in the strip of Bulgarian territory held by them with and around Strumitza has developed overnight from a side issue to the Balkan situation into one of great importance as far as its possible consequences are concerned.

Violent fighting has taken the place of skirmishes and minor retreats and advances; a battle line is being shaped by both the Bulgarians and Franco-Serbians, now being reinforced by the British from Salonica. A decisive battle already is taking its inception.

Simultaneously with the news comes word from Rome by wireless from a place in Serbia to the effect that the Franco-Serbian lines now extend from Strumitza to Kuprili and is being advanced toward Istip, which was taken by the Bulgarians in the first phase of their invasion.

The Daily Mail learns from the Athens correspondent, the Serbians attacked the Bulgarian positions before Kuprili without result. Owing to the superiority of numbers, the Bulgarians are now advancing southward. The greater part of the Serbian southern army is retreating, though in good order, and is intrenching in the Babuna pass before Prilep, where it will make a determined stand and offer a decisive defence against the invaders, if they move toward Monastir.

The Bulgarians on the other hand, the wireless message says, hold Eri, Palanka, Kumanovo, and Uskub. Comitatji, Bulgarian irregulars are advancing toward Albania.

Thus, the situation of Serbia, and the allied troops has assumed an extremely serious character. By stretching their lines westward from Uskub to the Albanian frontiers, the Bulgarians aim to isolate the whole of northern Serbia, separate the northern Serbian army from that fighting with the allies in the south, and endeavor to drive the Serbs and their European allies back to the south.

Fighting with their backs to Greece, the allies, unless promptly reinforced sufficiently and steadily, will face the menace of being driven back into Greek territory. Greece's protest against the landing of allied troops, originally not taken seriously, even by the Greek people, now looms up menacingly as the basis for possible Greek intervention on the central powers side. In that case, Greece's neutral move would be to fall in the rear of the allied troops.

Realizing the increasing danger to the southern Serbian army presented by the sudden Bulgarian offensive toward the south, French and British troops are being rushed in frantic haste northward.

The German invaders in Serbia have reached Milanovac, less than eight miles northeast of Cacak, the new Serbian capital, and connected with it by rail. The capture of Milanovac serve three objects, cornering of the Serbian government; the capture of Cacak, in order to move down upon Nish, already menaced from three sides, and the junction of the Teuton center army with the extreme right wing.

U. S. CONSUL AT LONDON HOME

Robert P. Skinner Denies He Was Recalled.

TO RETURN WITHIN MONTH

Dr. Bainbridge, Red Cross Official Says There Is Much Suffering In Belgium and That Country Will Need Much Aid From United States.

New York, Nov. 1.—United States Consul General Robert P. Skinner, to London, recently summoned to Washington for consultation on the trade situation between the United States and Great Britain, arrived here on the steamship Rotterdam.

Mr. Skinner denied reports that his recall had been occasioned by any dissatisfaction with his duties as consul general, and declared that there was no friction between his office and the state department.

Mr. Skinner denied reports, published in London papers on the day he left, that he was to be appointed ambassador to Mexico. He also denied that he was bringing with him correspondence and documents alleged to have been taken from Franz Rintelen by British authorities, when Rintelen and Andrew Meloy were detained at Plymouth while they were en route to Holland on board the steamship Nieuw Amsterdam.

"There are a number of matters relating to trade and other things that have been the subject of much correspondence," Mr. Skinner said, "and I have come to discuss these things personally with Secretary Lansing. I expect to be here about a month, then I will return to London."

Dr. William Seaman Bainbridge of New York, who has been in England, Belgium and France and Holland for two months making a semi-official survey of Red Cross hospital work and sanitary conditions, was on the Rotterdam.

"Despite the magnificent aid that has already been given Belgium," said Dr. Bainbridge, "there are thousands of refugees facing the winter without means of support, and shipments of food and clothing from the United States are necessary to relieve distress and starvation."

Naval officers were reticent about discussing repairs made to the Mayflower. They stated that the yacht was simply given the repairs it needed. The Mayflower spent over two weeks here. She was expected to leave in five days when she first arrived, but the time was extended in order to permit the installation of furniture, which was shipped here from New York. A new piano, it is said, was placed in the saloon.

Catarrh a Blood Disease S.S.S. Drives It From Your System

Because Catarrh affects the nose and throat, causing sores in the nostrils, stoppage of air-passages and gathering in the throat, it has been common practice to treat Catarrh by lotions, washes and sprays applied to these parts. This mode of treatment is entirely wrong. It cannot give permanent relief, and it is liable to irritate and aggravate the trouble. Catarrh cannot be trifled with. If allowed to run on it will disease the bronchial tubes, settle on the lungs, the stomach—indeed it is a very serious disease. Don't treat it locally. The fact that it causes headaches is proof that it is caused by impure and diseased blood. The one treatment that has proved effective in the treatment of Catarrh is S. S. S.

It is the greatest blood purifier and blood tonic known. It relieves the cause of Catarrh by the process of renewing the blood, renewing its strength and vigor, giving new life to the red blood corpuscles and stimulating the flow so that it has the vitality to throw off the poison and germs from the system. It is literally a blood bath. You quickly feel results. Headaches disappear, the gathering in the throat stops, the nostrils heal—before you hardly realize it you are well. S. S. S. is a natural blood tonic and has proven effective in the treatment of all blood affections. Eczema, tetter, rash, Scrofula. Get S. S. S. at your druggist's. If you need special advice write the S. CHAPTER XVII.

It was one of those nights under whose brooding wings vague things and influences are astir and in the making. Dawn had gone back for a few days to her brother's lonely cabin on Tribulation to set his house in order and to do his simple mending. Perhaps in her own heart there was another reason—an unconfessed unwillingness to stay at the bungalow while she must see so far away from Juanita and feel Roger Malcolm seemingly so near.

In her heart vague things were stirring, too, and in another heart. The fact that she had not been allowed to see young Milt McBriar had given him an augmented importance which had kept the boy in her mind despite her denunciations. Once she had met him on the road and he had stopped her to say: "Dawn, do ye know why I don't come over there no more?"

The girl had only nodded and the boy went on:

"Well, some day when ye're at Jeb's cabin I'm a-comin' thar. I hain't a-

"Don't, Jeb!" She screamed in a Transport of Alarm.

goin' ter come slippin', but I'm comin' open an' upstandin', an' Jeb an' me are goin' ter talk about this business."

"No! No!" she had exclaimed, genuinely frightened and in a voice full of quick dissent. "Ye mustn't do it, Milt; ye mustn't. Ef ye does, I won't see ye."

"We'll settle that when I gits thar. I jest 'lowed I'd tell ye," persisted the boy stubbornly. "I reckon I mustn't talk ter ye now—I'm pledged," and without another word he shook up the reins on his horse's neck and rode away.

So tonight, while the moon was weaving its spell over several hearts, the son of the McBriar leader was riding with a set face over into the heart of the Hovey country, openly to visit the daughter of Fletch McNash.

Jeb was sitting before the fire with a pipe between his teeth and Dawn plunked on a banjo—not the old folk-lore tune that had once been her repertoire, but a newer and sweeter thing that she had learned from Juanita Holland.

Then, as a confident voice sang out from the darkness, "I'm Milt McBriar an' I'm a-comin' in," the banjo fell from the girl's hands and her fingers clutched in panic at her breast.

She saw her brother rise from his chair and heard his voice demand truculently: "What ther hell does you want hyar?"

Though Anse Hovey strode up the steep trail to the crest that night with long, elastic strides, seeking to burn up the restlessness which obsessed him, he found himself at the top with no wish to sleep and no patience with the idea of confining his thoughts between walls.

Anse Hovey felt that something was missing from his life; something of the barbarian order had become suddenly hateful to him. Into the gray eyes crept a suffering, and the brows came together in helpless perplexity.

Juanita was a woman of an exotic race who chose to think that life comes to perfection only under glass. He was a leader of a brier-tangled and shaggy clan—men who were akin to the eagles. No menace or threat of death had ever made him deviate from his loyalty to that people. But now a foreign woman had come and he was comparing himself with the well-dressed, soft-voiced man who was her visitor and feeling himself a creature of uncouthness.

He found himself wishing that he, too, was smoother. Then he flung the thought from him with bitter self-contempt, and a low oath broke from his lips. Was he growing ashamed of his life? Was he wishing that his eagle's talons might be manicured and his pinions combed?

"If ye've come down to that, Anse Hovey," he said aloud, "it's about time ye kilt yourself."

No, he protested to his soul, he had disliked Roger Malcolm because Roger Malcolm had spoken of a project of plunder and stood for his enemies of the future; but his soul answered that he thought little of that, and that it was because of the obvious understanding between this man and Juanita Holland that a new hatred had been born in his heart.

At the scant welcome of his greeting young Milt McBriar stiffened a little from head to foot, though he had not anticipated any great degree of cordiality.

He climbed the stile and walked across the moonlit patch of trampled clay to where the girl stood leaning, weak-kneed with fright, against the lighted frame of the door.

"Jeb," he said slowly to the boy, who had stepped down into the yard, "how air ye?" Then, turning to Dawn, with his hat in his hand, he greeted her gravely.

But the son of the murdered man stood still and rigid and repeated in a hard voice: "What ther hell does ye want hyar?"

"I come over hyar ter see Dawn," was the calm response, and then, as the girl convulsively moistened her dry lips with her tongue, she saw her brother's hand sweep under his coat and come out gripping a heavy revolver.

Jeb had never gone armed before that night when Fletch fell. Now he was never unarmed.

"Don't, Jeb!" she screamed in a transport of alarm, as she braced herself and summoned strength to seize the hand that held the weapon.

Jeb shook her roughly off and wheeled again to face the visitor with the precaution of a sidewise leap. He had expected that the other boy would use that moment of interference to draw his own weapon, but the young McBriar was standing in the same attitude, holding his hat in one hand while he reassured the girl.

"Don't fret, Dawn; thar hain't nothin' ter worry about," he said; then, facing the brother, he went on in a voice of cold and almost scornful composure:

"Thet hain't ther first time ye've seed me across the sights of a gun, is it, Jeb?"

"What does ye mean?" The other boy's face went brick-red and he lowered his muzzle with a sense of sudden shame.

"Oh, I heered about how old Bob McGregor told ye a passel of lies about me, an' how ye come across ther ridge one day. I reckon I kin guess ther rest."

"Well, what of hit?" Jeb stood with his pistol now hanging at his side, but in his eyes still glowed the fire of hatred.

"Jest this," young McBriar went on: "I ain't got no gun on me. I ain't even got a jackknife. I 'lowed that ye mought be right smart incensed at my comin' hyar an' I come without no weapon on purpose. Ef ye hain't skeered of me when I'm unarmed, I reckon ye kin put your own gun back in ther holster."

Jeb McNash slowly followed the suggestion, and then coming forward until the two boys stood eye to eye, he said in deliberate accents: "I reckon ye don't 'low I'm skeered of ye."

"I reckon not." Young Milt's tone was almost cheerful. "I reckon ye air jest about as much skeered of me as I am of you—an' thar ain't none."

"What does ye want hyar?" persisted Jeb.

"I wants first to tell ye—an' I hain't never lied ter no feller yet—theet I don't know nothin' more about who kilt Fletch than you does. If I did, so help me God Almighty, I'd tell ye. I hain't tryin' ter shield no murderers."

There was a ring of sincerity in the lad's voice that carried weight even into the bitter skepticism of Jeb's heart—a skepticism which had refused to believe that honor or truth dwelt east of the ridge.

"I reckon, ef that's true," sneered the older boy, "thar's them in yore house thet does know."

At that insult it was Young Milt whose face went first red and then very white.

"Thet calls for a fight, Jeb," he said with forced calm. "I can't harken ter things like theet. But first I wants ter say this: I come over hyar ter tell ye theet I knowed how ye felt, an' theet I didn't see no reason why you an' me had ter quarrel. I come over hyar ter see Dawn, because I promised I wouldn't try ter see her whilst she stayed down at the school—an' because I wants ter see her—an' 'lows ter do hit. Now will ye lay aside yore gun an' go out thar in ther road whar hit hain't on yore own ground, an' let me tell ye theet ye lied when ye slurred my folks?"

The two boys stripped off their coats in guaranty that neither had hidden a weapon. Then, while the girl, who was really no longer a girl, turned back into the firelit cabin and threw herself face downward on her feather bed, they silently crossed the stile into the road and Milt turned to repeat: "Jeb, thet war a lie ye spoke, an' I wants ye ter fight me far, fist an' skul, an' when we gits through, ef ye feels like hit, we'll shake hands. You an' me ain't got no cause ter quarrel."

And so the boy in each of them, which was the manlier part of each, came to the surface, and into a bitter and long-fought battle of fists and wrestling, in which both of them rolled in the dust, and each of them obstinately refused to say "enough," they submitted their long-fostered hostility to one fierce debate. At last, as the two lay panting and bloodied there in the road, it was Jeb who rose and held out his hand.

"So fur as the two of us goes, Milt," he said, "unless ther war busts loose ergin, I reckon we kin be friendly."

Together they rose and recrossed the stile and washed their grimed faces. Dawn looked from one to the other, and Jeb said: "Milt, set yore-self a cheer. I reckon ye'd better stay all night. It's most too fur ter ride back."

And so, though they did not realize it, the two youths who were to stand some day near the heads of the two factions, had set a new precedent and had fought without guns, as men had fought before the feud began.

Jeb kicked off his shoes and lay down, and before the flaming logs sat the Hovey girl and the McBriar boy talking.

CROWDS WATCH MEXICAN FIGHT

Douglas Thronged With Curious Spectators.

AMERICAN TROOPS PREPARED

Brig. Gen. Thomas F. Davis, In Command of U. S. Soldiers, Makes Inspection Preparatory to Defending Douglas and Americans.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 1.—This is to be battle day in Douglas.

With the Villa troops only a few hours' distant from the border, ready to strike Agua Prieta at any hour, Douglas is crowded with sightseers. Every hotel is filled to capacity and rooms at private houses are bringing premium prices from visitors, who hope to glimpse real soldiers in action at actual warfare.

A great barbed wire fence marks the international border. Sightseers lined the fence all during the day, anxious for the first sight of the attacking raiders.

Meanwhile the scene in this city is little short of remarkable, considering the fact that every person who enters Douglas is taking a great personal risk. Among all highways hundreds of automobiles carried crowds into the city, and the scene was not unlike that attempting a big automobile race meet or other sporting event, with which northern people are familiar.

Betting on the outcome of the impending battle is brisk in Douglas, with the odds favoring Carranza, in view of the fact that he is, in a manner, backed up by Uncle Sam.

Brig. Gen. Thomas F. Davis, in command of the United States troops entrenched just north of the Mexican line, made a careful inspection of his men and their positions. He also kept a close watch of the Mexican military movements plainly to be seen from the American side of the border.

Advance cavalry of the Villa raiders halted late in the day about thirty miles east of Agua Prieta. The main army, which is said to consist of 16,000 men, with a great number of cannon, said by some to aggregate 160 field pieces, is understood to be a short distance behind the cavalry advance.

Meanwhile the American forces, entrenched just on this side of the international boundary and backed up by rapid firers and field pieces, are under orders to repel any attempt by Villistas to cross the line and, if shells or bullets fall on this side, to stop the firing, even if it is necessary to fire upon the offenders.

KILLED BY FUMIGATING GAS

Woman Dies In a Flat Occupied by Mrs. Galt's Mother.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Miss Esther Roberts, living in a flat, occupied also by Mrs. Norman Galt's mother and other relatives, was killed by gas which escaped from a basement room where it was being used as an insecticide.

The gas penetrated to the halls of the apartment house and filtered into the room occupied by Miss Roberts, causing her death. The Bollings and other families in the apartment house were aroused by the fumes and on making an investigation, found Miss Roberts had succumbed.

Coroner Nevitt was called immediately after the death of Miss Roberts was discovered and ordered all residents in the building to be aroused in order to make certain that the fatal gas had not reached any other persons.

CORNSTALKS STOP TALK

So High In Kansas They Short-Circuit Telephone Wires.

Leavenworth, Kas., Nov. 1.—The cornstalks are so tall in some parts of Leavenworth county that they are interfering with the telephone service.

South of Lansing, at Dan Monroe's place, stalks pressed against the telephone wires and caused a short circuit. The linemen had considerable trouble in discovering what was wrong.

The wires were on low poles. Two rows of corn had to be cut on each side to keep the wires clear of short circuiting at Mr. Monroe's place.

France Wants Jap Submarines.

Tokio, Nov. 1.—According to Tokio newspapers France has approached Japan with a proposition to take over two submarines which the Japanese government ordered at French shipyards before the outbreak of the war. Only the question of price remains to be settled.

29,000 After Homesteads.

Minot, N. D., Nov. 1.—Registration for Fort Berthold lands, which will be thrown open to entry next May, closed at Minot, Plaza and Bismarck, with approximately 29,000 names listed. Drawings take place here Nov. 4.

Monon "Drys" Win.

Monon, Ind., Nov. 1.—Monon township voted "dry" by a majority of 287 votes; 587 votes were cast. The "drys" got 487 and the "wets" 150.

WOMEN'S CONFERENCE OPENS AT SAN FRANCISCO

Delegates Agree Not to Mention Suffrage, Peace or Religion in Discussion.

By United Press.

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—Women of every race and creed; women of every walk of life, suffragists and antis, neutrals and belligerents, unfurled here today the banner of mutual tolerance.

Under the auspices of the International Congress of women, these delegates from almost every land on the globe opened their six-day convention, under an iron-clad agreement not to talk suffrage, peace or religion. There was, however, plenty of talk.

Church women, Red Cross and charity workers, society women, modern clubwomen, foreign women were here. Pan-American day will be one of the big features of the congress. The women will try to establish more of an entente cordiale between the women of North and South America.

"We are going to see if we cannot overcome prejudice between the Latin American and the Anglo-Saxon American," explained Mrs. F. H. Colburn, who is in charge. "We stare and bristle at each other like quills on a porcupine. The Latin American woman smokes, but does not go on the streets without a chaperone. The Anglo American woman (that is the most of her) does not smoke, but she goes and comes where she pleases. Each hold their social customs against the other."

Vinol is a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, guaranteed to overcome run down, weak, debilitated conditions and for chronic coughs and colds. Carter's Drug Store, Seymour, Ind.
